Thanks!

On the inside front and back covers, I illustrate the first two intaglio multi-color prints issued by the BEP in their current "Defenders of Freedom" series.

Back in "the old days", when the BEP was still printing cards which included money from "the real old days", in 2001, for some reason I have never understood, four cards were printed twice: B-251, B-252, B-254, and B-257, both with and without an indication of the numismatic show at which they were issued. I have chosen—rightly or wrongly—to treat the untitled cards as variants, i.e., "A" of the originals. So, if you don't have them (their original issue was more or less a "secret" and missed by many) and should come across them, please note they are not "errors"! They are scarcer than the titled cards.

On a similar note, I have never understood why the Secret Service, or whomever, stopped the printing of the "money" cards. I can't believe someone would except them as "real" currency in this day and age—when current paper money is held to the light and/or tested with a "pen". I do know that the result was a downer for membership when we lost paper money collectors who also collected those cards!

"Everyone makes mistakes sometimes!" In my listing of the IBNS souvenir cards/sheets in the last issue "Bradley" should read "Bradbury" and "Brunel" has only one "n". (A good/bad example of copy/paste!)

IBNS-6 and 8 are the same front and back (except for the show information) and I should have noted it, but there was no more room on the text page. I thank member Ron Betz for calling this to my attention. BTW, in preparing those entries, I had NO input from the sources I contacted, including the dealer who sold me the material several years ago, and the IBNS itself!! In addition, IBNS-14 & 17, which I noted were issued in two different colors, I have chosen to designate as "A" for the alternate color. Which came first, I do not know or if they were issued simultaneously.

Some SCCS members will be meeting at the ANA World's Fair of Money Show, in Chicago, on Friday, 8 August 2014, at 2:00 pm, in room #42.

Lyle Boardman and I are surprised at the rather meager response to the offer of the engraved National Postal Museum souvenir card (SO-164, p. 10, last issue). The $ 3.00 barely covers his cost to send them out—postage alone is $ 2.32. It is certainly less expensive than what would be involved to get a "free" one at the Museum!

I have one copy of the 2014 Scott Specialized Catalogue of United States Stamps & Covers, which includes their "values" for many (not all) souvenir cards and commemorative panels. The retail price is $ 119.99, and can be found at a discount price of $ 89.99. I offer this, like new, copy to the first offer of $ 60.00, plus $ 5.00 Media mail.

Cherrystone Auctions (10-11 June 2014) has some beautiful ABNCo proofs/color charts at some, unfortunately, beautiful estimates. I'll include a report on the sale in the next issue.

In a similar venue, Archives International (20 May 2014) has, as usual, some interesting "Security Printing Ephemera", which I also hope to report on in the next issue.

Souvenir Cards: A Visual Reference, Third Edition, 2012, includes the following cards:

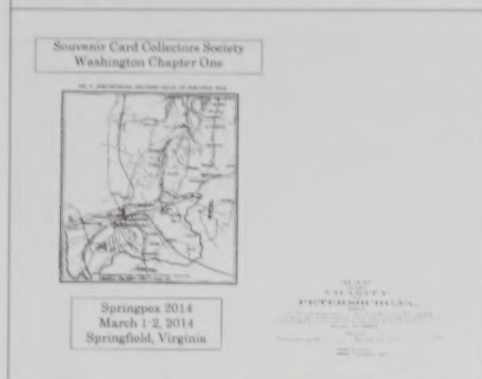

1. Bureau of Engraving and Printing (B), 28 pp.;
2. Postal Service (PS), 8 pp.;
3. Semi-Official (SO), 16 pp.;
4. American Stamp Dealers Association (ASDA), 28 pp.;

The second book of "Memorial Addresses," printed in 1883, was written by Samuel S. Cox, a congressman from New York. This is a hardbound edition, with gold foil lettering on the cover. Though the title page indicates it was published in Washington, DC, there is no mention of the publisher.

Cox was a long-serving representative, first elected in 1856-1864 from Ohio and later from New York from 1868-1889 with two breaks in service, one for a year as U.S. Ambassador to Turkey. Cox was appreciated by colleagues for his sense of humor, which was apparent in several other books he authored.

His "Memorial Addresses" is 86 pages and also uses a vignette of the Capitol building as a frontispiece, though a different view. In addition, it contains six portraits: Smithsonian Secretary Joseph Henry, telegraph inventor Samuel Morse (this portrait appears on B38), Senator Stephen Douglas, House Speaker Michael Kerr, Senator George Houston, and Senator Benjamin Hill. Unlike Anthony's book, all of these engravings bear the BEP imprint. The Hill portrait has clever Easter egg: "Hatch, sc." appears in micro-lettering on the paper Hill holds in his lap – courtesy of Bureau engraver Lorenzo Hatch.

Though each book makes use of Bureau engravings, I believe the difference is that the Anthony book contains portrait-vignette cards, while the Cox book uses commemorative cards. As described in the SCCS numbering system catalog: to curry favor, the BEP supplied these portrait-vignette cards to politicians, who in turn gave them out to supporters as souvenirs. Typically these cards included facsimile autographs, while the commemorative cards had titles printed in a script font.

The Stephen Douglas portrait is an object example. Interestingly, Douglas, who died in 1861, was the subject of an official Congressional memorial book, produced by the Government Printing Office. However, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing had not yet been established, so at that time engraved portraits were not included in the early books. Charles Burt later engraved a portrait of Douglas, which appears on an 1872 U.S. Treasury certificate of deposit. This is the same portrait included in both books. The one in Anthony's book bears a signature; the Cox version has a printed title.

There's no clear explanation for the different portrait formats. Perhaps during the eight years between the books "autograph cards" fell out of fashion. Anthony's book very likely had a much smaller print run and he may have purchased or obtained a small number of cards himself and had them tipped in, whereas Cox probably had his publisher work directly with the Bureau. At this point we can only speculate.

Both Cox and Anthony died in office (Cox in 1889) and were themselves the subjects of official memorial books, containing engraved portraits (with BEP imprints). I show them here for reference, though, of course, these portraits were not included in the private books, since the authors were still living. Ironically, Cox's portrait in his own memorial book is an autographed portrait-vignette card.

I have a short addendum to the Memorial Book story. Paul Melnick informed me that a later version of the Anthony book exists, which includes an additional speech and portrait of Vice President Henry B. Wilson. Wilson died in January 1876, just after the first printing, so Anthony must have tacked this on a few months later. The portrait Anthony added is the same as the one in Wilson's official memorial book; it's also a signature card, but this one includes the BEP imprint.

I am also including an enlargement of Hatch's secret signature on the Benjamin Hill portrait in the Cox book. G.A.

[I have included the portrait from the Memorial book for Samuel Sullivan Cox, April 19, 1890 (above). Not surprisingly, the portrait (opposite, left) was used in the Memorial book for Benjamin Harvey Hill, January 25th 1883. I do not have Henry Bowen Anthony's Memorial book from 1885, so I cannot include his portrait here. Ed.]

In the last issue of this Journal, I added some material to the SCCS numbering system that had not previously been included. Of special interest is/was the incredibly handsome work previously produced for paper money fairs/bourses in England and The Netherlands. At least one of these events was participated in by our own BEP (B-183), in 1994.

I was primarily interested in showing the intaglio designs of the material, and yes, as member-friend Michael Padwee notes, some of the material shown actually has printed text on the reverse side.

I would have liked to have printed the VR-sized scans in color, as I find them beautiful, but it was cost prohibitive. Perhaps, some will appear on the cover color pages of future issues of this Journal.

I am under the impression that there was some animosity between the security printers and the IBNS organization (from which I have NOT been able to get any response to my requests for information) concerning the subsequent "sale" of what they had contributed "free". As a result, it is my understanding that "tickets", "samples", or whatever, are no longer offered. Anyone know?

One of the items I listed, IBNS-15, was produced from a security firm I had never heard of before. Hence, I offer the following from the WEB:

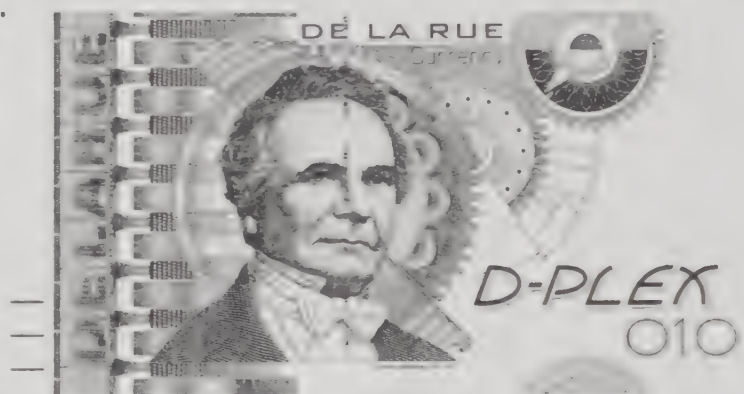

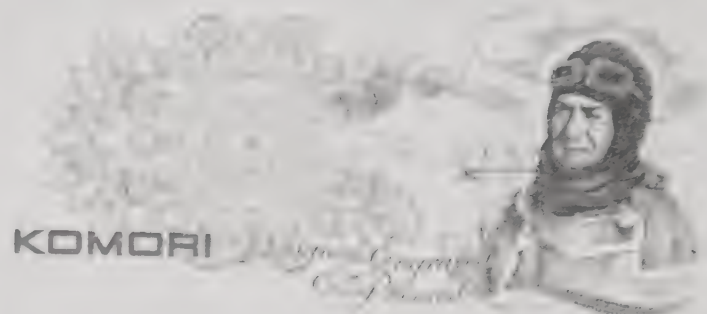

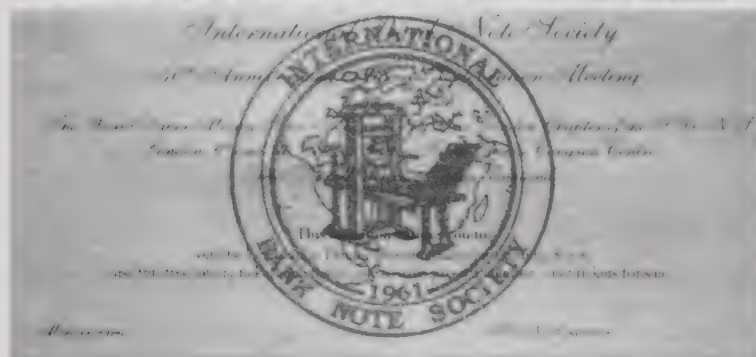

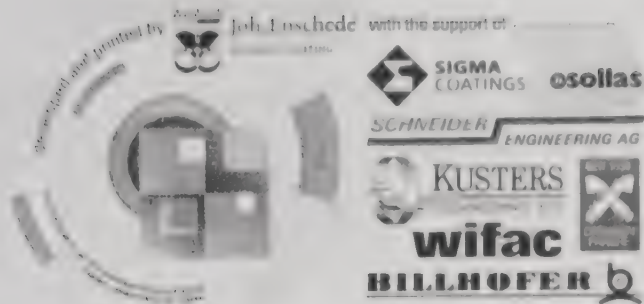

"Walsall Security Printers Limited is a privately held company engaged in the printing of security materials. The company was incorporated in January of 1966 and has its registered headquarters in the city of Walsall in the United Kingdom. Walsall Security Printers prints stamps such as self-adhesive and gummed stamps; stamp books, devices containing one or more panes of unused stamps; presentation packs, which contain gummed or self-adhesive stamps in single or multiple sets; and special stamps with feature designs for an event celebration. The company operates as a wholly-owned subsidiary of International Security Printers Limited, a printing business incorporated in March of 2004. In addition, Walsall Security Printers is affiliated with Aspinall Holdings Limited, a holding company that takes controlling and supervisory measures as well as provides technical and scientific management holding services to its operating companies and enterprises, including the local units."

Mr. Aspinall is pictured on the note.

Mike also added some scans of items from his collection:

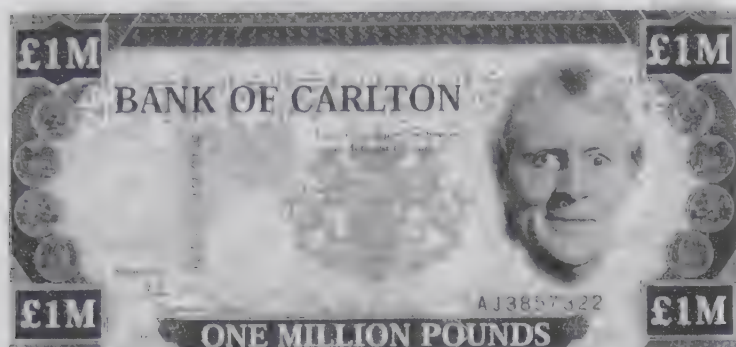

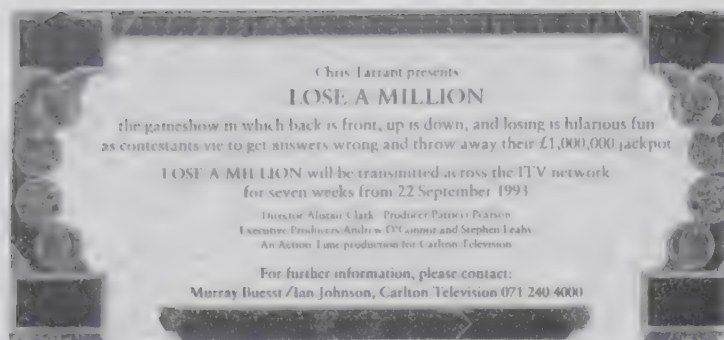

(Above) Both sides of two ABNCo notes (6.25"x 3.125") engraved for an Australian Money show in 1988

(Above) Both sides of an Enschede note, a security printer in Haarlem (5.875" x 3.125"); and both sides of a 40th Anniversary (2001) dinner & meeting invitation (source unknown), (8.25" x 4").

(Above) Both sides of another De La Rue Giori Shakespeare note (7.625" x 3.25); a Komori note (7.75" x 3.625") picturing Captain Robert Falcon Scott, RN, (1868-1912), an Antarctic explorer, who perished there. As best that I can establish, Komori is a Japanese manufacturer of printing equipment. I have no idea what their relationship is/was with Captain Scott.

A De La Rue note picturing Charles Babbage (1791-1871). Babbage, a mathematician, philosopher, inventor and mechanical engineer, is noted as the inventor of the first mechanical computer.

Another "note" (6"x 3") that I did not include is this one which, to the best of my knowledge, is purely an advertisement, for a TV show, disguised as an item of "value". I do not know if its distribution had any relation to IBNS. It is NOT engraved and I have no idea who printed it. It is green and black.

TRADITION AND PROGRESS

The history of the banknote dates back to the Tang dynasty in China about 600 A.D. In time this method of payment reached Europe and Sweden was one of the first countries to adopt the idea. In 1656 a former merchant from Amsterdam, Johan Palmstruch, received a licence to start a discount and lending bank in Stockholm. When this establishment started to issue credit notes in 1661 these were the first true banknotes in the world.

In June 1755 King Adolf Fredrik sanctioned the founding of Tumba Bruk. One of the biggest problems at that time was the counterfeiting of banknotes. However, the Riksbank (the forerunner of the Bank of Sweden) had a solution to this. Banknotes were to be printed "on a special and individual paper" which would be difficult to imitate. Tumba Bruk had come into being.

"OF THIS STRENGTH AND SECURITY"

Tumba Bruk is one of the few companies in the world with an integral production of security paper and security printing. The company is owned by the Bank of Sweden – the oldest central bank in the world – and it is the Bank that vouches for its legal and economic stability.

In 1970 the banknote printing works of the Bank of Sweden was incorporated with its paper mill. In this way Tumba Bruk could expand into what it is today: an integrated production unit where the complete process from paper to finished security document is handled by one and the same company.

Both buyers and sellers of security printing and security paper are well aware of the importance of this unbroken safety link – from design, origination work, paper making, printing, finishing and stocking right up to the final delivery. All business is carried out in the spirit of the motto of the Bank of Sweden "Tinc Robur et Securitas" – "Of this Strength and Security".

This is the text from the back of the AB Tumba Bruk card that was on the front cover of the last issue.

Mike also noted that the B-W pair on the inside front cover were also printed as two separate sheets with a small border and used for a calendar in 1985.

Obviously the De La Rue pair on the inside back cover had been used as separate sheets (IBNS-5, 9, & 10). The three B-W Sir Issac Neton sheets (IBNS-1-3) are in different colors, which you can't tell in a b&w illustration.

I also discovered some more material being offered on eBay:

This is a multi-colored De La Rue item prepared for the World Paper Money Fair, London 2010, and bears the IBNS logo. I hesitate to incorporate it into my listing until I can ascertain how many others/other years are involved.

For the 15th Consecutive IBNS European Congress, London, 5-6 October 1985, Portals, an English banknote paper making company, "Established 1712", provided a fold-out portfolio (cover, opposite; insides, following page), 8.25"x12" folded. It describes the history of the paper making firm from its founding by Henri Portal, a French Huguenot, who fled persecution and came to England.

There was a Society Annual Dinner which included a menu souvenir (right) which featured an actual Brazilian bank note on both sides (right). It measures 8.5"x8". There is no indication of a printer. The only engraving work is the bank note(s).

The card is blue-colored stock, blue lettering, with a dark-blue band around the note(s).

According to the text, an award is given out each year, presented "to a member of the Society who has most significantly contributed to the betterment of the hobby in general or the IBNS in particular during the previous 12 months." The award is a Highland "Quaich", a shallow drinking cup originating in Scotland.

I have designated these two items as IBNS-1A & IBNS-1B (see page 3).

[If any S.C.C.S. members have any additional IBNS-related material, please contact me so that we may be able to share it with the membership, and also fill-out the Visual Reference pages. Ed.]

S.C.C.S. AUCTION NO. 29: PRICES REALIZED William Kriebel (27)

This auction brought out 12 bidders and resulted in the sale of 143 lots of the 233 offered, for a sales total of $2,719.00 against a minimum bid total for those lots of $ 1,609.00. Several lots drew up to 6 bids!

There were quite a few items that have never been offered before and were obviously desired.

It was obvious that "tax day" did not influence the results one way or the other, and early bidding, at more than the minimum, brought successful results!

All unsold lots from this auction are available at the original minimum bids, or higher, until the end of the current auction, i.e., 19 July 2014.

OTEL A OF THOLA F D A PA AS LIN LN
HODGENVILLE, KENTUCKY

LINCOLN MEMORIAL, DEDICATED MAY 30, 1913
WASHINGTON, D C

(above) Lot No. 217. From the "Numberin System (1989)": "F1959B 67th IPPDS&EU CONVENTION OF 1959 Card bearing vignettes of Lincoln's Birthplace and of the Lincoln Memorial. Same as 1959Ae [black] except printed in light brown. Intaglio (BEP). Measures 8 1/4 x 10 3/4". It is not known how many were printed (probably less than 100) but the number in existence today suggest that it is not a proof." That comment was written twenty-five years ago, and I doubt that there are very many in existence today. Have you seen any offered for sale lately?

RULES:

1. Only souvenir cards, intaglio-printed material, or related items are acceptable for consignment. Interested sellers should contact the auctioneer with any questions BEFORE sending any material. The fastest contact is by e-mail;

kriebewv@drexel.edu

2. Consignors are responsible for adequately describing their lots, including S.C.C.S. numbers and their minimum bids. Lots must be of a minimum $2 value.

3. Consignors will pay the postage to ship their lots and postage/insurance for return of unsold material. There is NO consignment fee, however, the S.C.C.S. will retain 10% of the selling price as a commission fee. Care shall be taken to protect any material submitted, but the auctioneer and the S.C.C.S. assumes NO liability and the consignor(s) should verify and/or provide their own insurance coverage.

4. Lots will be sold to the highest bidder. In the case of tie bids, the first bid received shall be awarded the lot. Bids below the "minimum" listed are NOT accepted. Bid in $1.00 increments only, i.e., NOT "cents." There is NO "buyer's premium".

5. Successful bidders will pay the postage, insurance and packaging for their lots. There is NO buyer's fee, but NO lots will be shipped until the notice for same is paid in full. Payment is expected within ten (10) days of notice. Late payment may result in exclusion from future bidding. Checks should be made out to the auctioneer NOT the S.C.C.S.

6. Returns are acceptable within ten days of receipt of shipment. Please specify the reason for the return (damage, mis-attribution, etc.) Mistakes on the bidder's part are NOT sufficient reason for return.

7. Bids and/or questions may be e-mailed—the quickest way—regular mail, or carrier.

(FSO 1877B) ABNCo vignette (below)

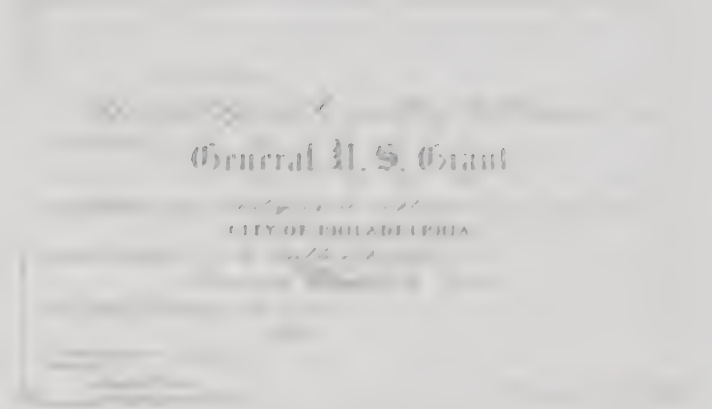

The next three items were printed for several events in honor of General U. S. Grant, in Philadelphia, in 1879. One is listed in the Numbering System.

FSO 1879A The Joint Special Committee of City Councils invitation to a reception at the Academy of Fine Arts, 20 December. Engraved and printed by Bailey, Banks & Biddle (7.5"x6").

(FSO 1879B) The same group had an earlier reception on 16 December. (6.75"x4.675)

(FSO 1879C) And yet another reception by and at the Commercial Exchange, 19 December (7"x4.5").

This commercial office building was built on the site of William Penn's "Mansion" (constructed in 1700 and demolished in 1868). From 1902 to 1944 it housed the first automatic telephone exchange. It has since been demolished and is now a public park.

In early April, in searching eBay for BEP materi- FOR SALE IS A = al, without success, I found this item. It was one of two by the same seller, both listed as BEP items, but this one was different—it placed a real BEP souvenir card behind the privately printed one, so that from the angle photographed one might conclude that it was a BEP product!

SOUVENIR CARDS AVAILABLE AND/OR FORTHCOMING AND MAJOR SHOWS

This listing is intended to alert the membership and serve as an update of the SCCS numbering system. Numbers are shown in “()” until confirmed and will be deleted when no longer available (“N.A.”) from the initial sources. It does NOT include ASDA or UN cards as this information is NOT readily available in advance of the event. It is as complete as possible and no responsibility is taken for changes. Anyone who can supply missing (“?”) information and/or data concerning availability should please contact the Editor. I also list forthcoming/major shows. Whether or not souvenir cards will be issued at these shows will be reported if and when such information becomes available. Card sources are listed at the top of the next page.
